ORRA NAMES DEAN ASHER, GRI, AS ITS 2004 REALTOR® OF THE YEAR

Dean Asher, GRI, one of the youngest presidents in the history of the Orlando Regional Realtor® Association, was recognized for his commitment to the real estate industry with the organization's 2004 Realtor® of the Year Award, the highest esteemed honor bestowed on a member.

The Realtor® of the Year Award recognizes a member of the association who has demonstrated the highest degree of commitment and professionalism. The award was presented as part of ORRA's annual Showcase Awards, which was held at the Ritz-Carlton in Orlando on February 5 and featured the renowned Capitol Steps.

As president of ORRA in 2003, Asher created the Young Council of Realtors®, re-established the Property Management Forum, overhauled the local Realtor® Political Action Committee, and instituted a scholarship program for high school seniors. Dean's father, Don Asher (who preceded Dean as ORRA president in 1988 and was ORRA's Realtor® of the Year in 1989), was on hand to see his son accept the award.

Dean, a Realtor® with Don Asher and Associates, is also very active politically at the local level and with the Florida Association of Realtors® (FAR). He currently serves as District 12 RPAC Trustee and National Director for the National Association of Realtors®.
